FACT SHEET

Temporary Housing Options

The GLO is administering temporary housing leasing through the Direct Leasing and Multi-Family Lease and Repair (MLR) programs for eligible Texans unable to return to their homes until they are repaired or rebuilt. Community participation in these programs is key to their success and a vital component of our rebuilding efforts.

Direct Leasing: Enables the government to lease a property that would not generally be available to the public, such as corporate lodging, to house survivors.

- At a minimum, properties must provide complete and independent living facilities for one or more persons, including for living, sleeping and cooking.
- Hotels, motels and extended stay lodging are not eligible.

Multi-Family Lease and Repair: Allows the government to enter into agreements to make repairs and lease existing multi-family housing, such as apartments, in order to provide more housing for survivors.

The GLO will determine the fair market value of the lease and the cost of repairs. The cost of these repairs will be deducted from the value of the lease and cannot exceed the lease value.

Properties must meet these minimum requirements:

- Have previously been used as multi-family housing (three units or more);
- Located in the designated or contiguous to the disaster area;
- Be available for lease to GLO at least through February 2019;
- Be repairable within four months; and
- Located outside of a Special Flood Hazard Area.
- Hotels, motels and extended stay lodging are not eligible.

Direct Leasing and Multi-Family Lease and Repair properties must be located in a designated Hurricane Harvey disaster county or a contiguous county to be considered.

Property owners whose units are used in a temporary housing leasing program must sign a lease with a designated local government entity. Before a lease is signed, the properties will be evaluated to meet these minimum requirements:

- Cost effectiveness, in-line with Fair Market Value;
- Landlord's ability to manage and provide maintenance services; and
- Proximity to community services.

FEMA determines eligible tenants with the best available Direct Temporary Housing Program to meet their individual needs and the GLO administers the program selected.

GLO may extend leases beyond February 2019 should the assistance period be extended by FEMA and reserves the right to terminate a lease with 30 days written notice.
